Irish to have top billing at School Carnival

"The Tularcitos room mothers are planning to turn the school grounds into Brigadoon for a day," stated Ollie White, Tularcitos Parents Club vice president when discussing the tribute to the Emerald Isle planned for Saturday, March 16, as the only fund raising event, sponsored annually by the Parents Club.

The Carnival, usually a Halloween event, was postponed until spring this year due to the late September changes involving home rooms, according to Carnival co-chairmen Mrs. Diane Nottenkamper and Mrs. Mildred Hattan.

A fun filled day of activities will begin at 1 p.m. with a Variety Show in the multi-purpose room. Under the direction of Mrs. Carl Cabral of Pacific Grove, such acts will be featured as "Little Nina," a Spanish dancer; Allison Gates, a pint-sized Gay Nineties songbird; Lisa LaBlanc doing her famous acrobatics; the Goff Sisters on the accordion; Jackie Gorbies with her baton; a skit with El Toro the Bull and many more acts making up a forty-five minute show.

BOOTHS

The numerous booths will open at 1:45 with old favorites such as the "Cake Walk," the "Fish Pond," and "Sponge Toss" to be found about the grounds as well as new additions. These include a "Blarney Castle" with a live leprechaun (flown at great expense from the Land 'o the Little People!) who will have a gift for the children; a Driving Golf Range with "father appeal"; and a family spaghetti dinner.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

Dinner co-chairmen, Mrs. Rex Pryer and Mrs. Luther Washington will serve between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. The menu consists of spaghetti, French bread, green salad, coffee for adults and milk for the children. Desserts may be purchased at other booths.

The tickets are $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for children. Mrs. R. D. Petree is ticket chairman. Other members of the food committee include Mrs. John Woods and Mrs. Tom Bottaro, salad; Mrs. John Black, clean-up; Mrs. John Davis, supplies; Mrs. Don Draper, coffee; Mrs. Ed McCurry and Mr. Bob Skiles, decorations; Mrs. Hap Thystrup, French bread; and Mrs. Rudi Marzi, serving.

Elegant door prizes, a boy's and a girl's three speed bicycle, will be awarded at 5:30.

They are presently on display in the multi-purpose room. Mr. and Mrs. Mal Tavares are in charge of the tickets which will sell for 10¢ each or three for a quarter.

Other special features include Mrs. John Senger who will tell fortunes, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hebert who are in charge of the rides which will include the American Legion train and three hay wagons, and Joe De Maria and his rock and roll band who will furnish music by the group called "Instant Insanity," all afternoon.

PUBLIC INVITED

The general public is cordially invited to wear something green, pin a shamrock in the lapel and join the "Saints" (Tularcitos room mothers) who hope to make this the gayest spring event ever held in the Valley.

Mrs. Don Swiess and Mrs. William Gibson will open their hot dog stand in front of the faculty room at 12:30. Carnivalgoers may plan to have a soft drink, hot dog, chips; or doughnuts, coffee and cupcakes may be purchased at the booth sponsored by Mrs. Don Cummings before the "Big Show" begins at 1 p.m. March 16.

thought of making the long drive back to the other was just too much.

One daughter, Sandra Lee, is 19 and in her first year at Cabrillo College. She works for an attorney in the afternoons. The other, Shirley Castleberry, the mother of two small boys, is working for the telephone company in Santa Cruz until her husband returns from service in Germany.

Both Smith and his wife love sports, both as spectators and participants. They are Giant fans and also attend 49-er and Raider football games.

As a first impression, the friendly relaxed atmosphere in the Valley is what Smith noticed immediately.

"I think I may even get used to taking my coat off while I'm working," he chuckled, "and that's unheard of...I've been wearing it for 20 years."

CVYO answers charges with an open letter

To All Concerned Parents:

This letter is in regard to the slanderous article the Carmel Valley Youth Organization received in the Monterey Peninsula Herald on Wednesday, Feb. 28. This is a pretty serious accusation to be made on hearsay!

The CVYO members worked very hard to raise the money to pay a deputy sheriff $27.50 to maintain law and order at the anniversary dance on Saturday, Feb. 24. The deputy was hired to patrol the parking area, control the door in case of trouble, and to check for youths who had consumed liquor prior to their arrival at the dance. We paid this deputy for the time period from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.; he arrived at 8:50 p.m. and departed at approximately 12:15 a.m.

Upon arrival this deputy came in and relaxed in the kitchen. One of our women guests found him there and politely asked him to go on duty as kids were beginning to arrive. Instead of doing the job he was being paid to do, this deputy went out and sat in his car which was on the very border of the premises. He remained there for the duration of the dance, with the exception of two or three times when he got out of his car, walked around the building once, and returned to his car. When approached by an adult guest who requested he do his job, he replied to the effect that he could not stand the music.

As to the remarks made at the Kiwanis meeting by Sheriff Jack Davenport on Tuesday, Feb. 27, I would like to present the real situation.

This was an anniversary dance to commemorate the second year that CVYO has been in operation. It was an open dance, i.e., there were people there from all over the Monterey Peninsula.

We have no jurisdiction over out-of-town people and therefore could enforce no rule, first of all, on smoking.

We had to allow people outside to get some fresh air, because the building as it now stands, has very inefficient ventilation. With nearly 60 people in that small hall it can and does get terribly hot and stuffy. We cannot open the doors because we have had previous complaints about the noise.

We have had plans for improvements on the present building for almost a year now but cannot put these plans into effect because of lack of funds. We have already received a grant from the Bing Crosby fund for 7,500 dollars to aid us in the building but this is not nearly enough. We cannot improve the present building without sufficient funds and we cannot get these funds without your support.

With these facilities there would be a specific place for people to sit down and relax and be sociable which would alleviate the problem of having to let people outside at an open dance. This is what the deputy was referring to when he remarked about people wandering in and out.

It is true that people were loitering around outside. This is exactly why we hired a deputy: to prevent these kids from going to the cars and wandering around. We could not restrict these people to the building because of its poor facilities. Some of the kids outside never came in. If this was a responsible deputy he would have inquired as to their presence on the grounds of the youth center.

As to the question of liquor being consumed on the grounds, we ask this deputy: Why didn't you act accordingly and investigate this problem? Why did he sit in his car observing all this, taking no action, exercising no authority associated with his job, and then turn around and stab us in the back without saying one word to a responsible party at the dance?

IF WE WANTED AN OBSERVER WE WOULD HAVE HIRED A REPORTER, NOT A SHERIFF.

The people who sponsored this dance were of the opinion that this was our most successful dance in our existence. There was no trouble and everyone was very well behaved. We were completely awed by this article that appeared in the paper.

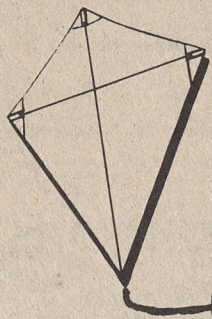

This youth center has fought for two long, hard years to make a respectable place for YOUR sons and daughters to assemble in enjoyable activities. We very sincerely hope that this accusation against the youth group has been somewhat proven as a one-sided and very irresponsible act.

If you are sincerely concerned about your child's welfare on weekend nights, stand behind the youth center; it's the best thing that ever happened to this valley.

Signed very earnestly,
The Members of CVYO

Pet of the week

PATIENTLY WAITING ADOPTION by a loving family, this gentle four-month-old beige and white male kitten is one of the many friendly pets at the SPCA Shelter at 2099 David Ave. in Monterey. The Rhyming Philosopher

In old-fashioned times if a girl couldn't cook
Her chances were slim to be chosen a bride,
Regardless of how many lessons she took
Or grandmothers standing around as a guide.
If she hadn't the knack to be qualified,
And the God-given talents weren't in her,
She'd soon lose her husband, who's fit to be tied,
For the want of a decent cooked dinner.

But all that's been changed in these elegant days:
Now the wives set their tables with confident pride;
For they've mastered the trick in a thousand ways
With goodies the grocery stores will provide,
With all the instructions so plainly described.
The meal comes fresh frozen, the cost is just right,
She heats up the oven and pops it inside
And out comes a meal that's a gourmet delight.

With more new inventions still coming up fast
We're certain to win independence at last.
Since science believes it can reproduce life
There'll be no excuse for supporting a wife!

There will be a bake sale, refreshments for all (hot dogs, beer, coffee, soft drinks) plus fresh fruit and vegetables. Many items will be available in the green thumb department as well as new and used clothing, antiques, dishes, household goods, furniture and other treasures. There will also be a special drawing on Saturday afternoon.

All proceeds from this project will be donated to charitable organizations on the Monterey Peninsula.

● River School Parents Club

Parents of River School have a delightful evening in store for them on March 12 when Miss Doris Gates, well-known children's author is our guest. Parents of Woods, Carmelo and Tulareitos Schools have also been invited. Miss Gates will share the importance of good reading to today's child, the scope of his literature, ways of introducing and sharing books in home and classroom, and specific aids in book selection. Following refreshments at 7:30, Miss Gates will speak at 8. Mrs. Nesbitt will provide parents with the opportunity to become acquainted with the school library at open house that evening. A display of Doris Gates' books has been arranged for you — so come and browse before and after the meeting.

● Community Chapel Guild

At the Chapel Guild meeting on March 13, the speaker will be the Rev. Robert Brayles, recently arrived director of the Young Life movement of the Greater Monterey Peninsula. Mr. Brayles comes to the Peninsula from the Protestant Chaplain's office of the Los Angeles County Sheriff and Probation departments.

He is well known in southern California for his civic and church related leadership with youth. He will tell the Guild of the aims and hopes of Young Life, which is described as a quest for creative relationships with high schoolers.

Mrs. Brayles will also show a short film made at a Young Life summer camp. Mothers of teenagers are especially invited to attend this meeting whether they are members of the Guild or not.

The meeting will be held in the Fellowship Hall of Carmel Valley Community Chapel at 12:45. Dessert and coffee will be served preceding the program with Mrs. Leon Amyx in charge of arrangements.

A baby sitting service will be provided.

● Kiwanis Club

CV Kiwanis Club Tuesday heard about Vietnam from Maj. Michael McCormick, a staff officer at the Presidio of Monterey.

Sheriff Jack Davenport, commenting on a letter by the club to the board of supervisors, emphasized need for more parental direction of their children. He said a deputy had declined further duty at Youth Center dances because some youths leave and return after consuming alcoholic beverages.

Davenport revealed that he now has funds to pay over-time when necessary to assure 24-hour patrolling of the Valley.

● Parents Without Partners

Parents Without Partners picked a new slate of officers last week to guide them through the ensuing Leap Year.

Elected president was Gordon Cubbison of Carmel, a Monterey mutual funds representative. Mrs. Shirley Frazer of Carmel Valley was chosen recording secretary.

Other officers elected include George Reams, Sue Berrum and Dorothy Kingsbury, vice presidents; Jan Weber, corresponding secretary; Nancy Dehnert, treasurer, and board of directors members-at-large Glynn Lockwood, Jean Shirey, Barbara Marin, Neil Smith and Barbara Nelson.

The Monterey Peninsula PWP group, established a year ago, is a chapter of the international educational organization which is devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents, whether widowed, divorced or separated.

Further information about the group may be obtained from Mrs. Barbara Johnson at 624-1448.

● Rippling River Contest

Valley merchants had better stock up on green paint for the number of events honoring the Irish that are planned for St. Patrick's Day weekend. The latest to be announced: an art contest at Rippling River Resort.

All entries are due March 12 and will be hung in the Cork Lounge with winners to be selected by public ballot. Winners for the junior division will be announced at the March 16 Carnival sponsored at Tulareitos School. Rippling River Resort is also sending a large donation of old Irish cookies to be enjoyed by the children at the Variety Show. Adults will receive their awards at a corned beef and cabbage buffet on St. Patrick's Day from 4 to 8 p.m.

Entries may be drawings, watercolors, pastels or paintings of leprechauns, elves, gnomes, etc. The adults will be competing for one magnum of champagne or two free dinners, a fifth of champagne or one free dinner, or third prize, a walnut pie. The junior division (through eighth grade) prizes will be $5.00, $2.00, and a third prize of 24 candy bars.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lucas entertained with a dinner party last week at their home on Panetta Road. The occasion combined the birthday of Mrs. Pat Quinones and the furlough of Lt. Cmdr. Richard Matherson who was home from Thailand.

Barbara and Dick Matherson are former Valley residents who with their children, Ricky, Lyn and Joanne (and their boxer Kennel) made their home at the Prieth residence on West Carmel Valley Road. They are now residents of North Salinas.

Dick has been stationed in Thailand since last November and will return there at the termination of his leave, for which he received an extension to be with daughter, Joanne, who is a pneumonia patient at Fort Ord Hospital.

In addition to Pat and Duke Quinones of Del Rey Oaks, and the Mathersons, others enjoying the dinner, champagne and birthday cake were Mrs. Heidi Caswell, Mrs. Nancy Hogans, Sharon and Jeff, and Miss Ginny Thayer.

Cherry tarts were the appropriate treat served to guests attending the George Washington birthday party that just happened to coincide with Becky Lambert's eighth birthday.

The party was planned at the Community Center by CV Youth Organization whose members not only help to make money for the Center but also take the wear and tear from grateful mothers. The tables were decorated with a red, white and blue motif, centered with a cherry tree filled with red lollipops, the work of Danny Tavares.

Other CVYO members assisting with Becky and her guests were Tomi France and Darlene Tavares.

Enjoying the relay races, games and refreshments were Wendy Lambert, David Buck, Jeff Johnson, Wes Farr, Annette Bottaro, Stacia McFadden, Rogue Hattan, Miyrea Hasslinger, Kim Neill, Amanda Olmstead, Beth Brill, Deborah Clingman, Tricia Mervine and Billy Bugbee.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kane of Carmel arrived at the Carmel Valley Inn in their 1922 Packard, other members of the caravan of old-time cars, who had accompanied them to the Valley, hurried to tell them that major repairs on their infernal machine were imperative since they had noticed a terrible banging noise all the way from Monterey. Fred laughed and assured them there was no problem since the noise was merely caused by Mrs. Kane kicking the fuel pump with her high heels to keep it going!

The occasion was a breakfast planned by the Antique Automobile Club of America at the Inn on Sunday morning. They met at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center for a leisurely drive (15 miles per hour behind their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Duveneck of Monterey in their 1900 Steam Locomobile!) The tour, made up of restored gems of the past, bucked and snorted to the Inn where they circled the flag pole covered wagon style, and provided a field day for camera fans who converged to snap pictures of these delightful relics of the past.

The event was the kick-off for their new club calendar which includes other tours, swap meets, a gymkhana, the Seaside July 4th parade, the 1968 Fiesta de los Amigos parade, and participation in the big Glidden Tour which will bring more than 250 antique autos from all over the U.S. to Monterey.

The day had been planned in the Valley by Dave Bush who with his wife arrived in a 1920 Gardner. Following breakfast some of the more hardy souls continued up the Valley as far as the Jamesburg turn. Others drove to Rancho Road where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Viljoen.

The auto enthusiasts were anxious to see the restoration progress Ben is making on a 1924 Fordson tractor, a 1919 Model T Jitney and a 1926 Model T roadster.

Among some of those attending the Sunday activities were Norman Lausten of Carmel in a 1931 Buick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lopes of Pacific Grove driving a 1924 Dodge (Mr. Lopes is club president), Gen. and Mrs. Harry Lyon of Carmel driving a 1925 canary yellow Rolls Royce which they had air mailed from the East, Mr. and Mrs. Art Montgomery of Pacific Grove in a 1932 Chevrolet, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Smith of Pacific Grove in a 1941 Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tanous of Pacific Grove in a 1927 Buick, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Walker of Pebble Beach in an antique Chrysler.

Mr. Lopes urges anyone interested in old machinery (whether an owner or not) to join their group. Their programs are family oriented so children are welcomed. For further in-

Christmas in Austria

Edwards family Sightsees in Europe

Former Carmel High principal Warren Edwards continues his message from Greece where he is principal of the American Academy of Athens.

Haven't been to Delphi yet... but we'll get there... probably during Easter week. Haven't been to the Peloponnese either (that is Sparta, Olympia and Mycenae)... but we'll get there.

This Christmas we went up to Austria... really felt like part of the jet set. Left Athens and flew northwestward to Salonica first... about a 30 minute flight which would have been a 6 hour drive. Simply gorgeous, all of Athens and the islands were covered with snow. It was the day after it snowed here and we felt a little silly going to Austria.

A couple of hours later we were in Vienna and took a quick tour between the plane and the train. Crossed into the heart of the Alps on the train to Salzburg.

Stayed at a lovely little hotel, or pension as they call it, and went skiing for six days, then back to Salzburg for a day and a couple of nights.

Most impressed with Salzburg... simply lovely. It was snowing and the castle on the hill was floodlit. The deciduous trees were lace-like in their covering of snow and the cemetery of St. Peters where a lot of the "Sound of Music" was made was unbelievably beautiful... It was very cold, below zero. Left for a day of wandering around in Vienna. We will have to return this summer.

Hopped on an S.A.S. jet in a driving snowstorm. First time I have taken off from a snow-covered runway through clouds. A couple of hours later we were over Athens in a sparkling clear night, looking down at the floodlit Parthenon. We had a wonderful feeling of coming home to Greece.

We're living in a very comfortable home... I guess it's what is called a typical Greek house. Actually it was built as a two-family dwelling. The upstairs front faces on the street on street level, but we're on a hill facing Athens. Downstairs are two bedrooms, a kitchen and bath where Bill and Peggy live in a sort of teenage paradise. We just close the door at the top of the hall to shut out the hi-fi.

Bruce, our youngest, and mom and pops have two bedrooms, nice big living room, kitchen and bath upstairs. We have wooden floors in the living rooms and bedrooms. The rest of the floors are mosaic, very common here. All the bedrooms open out onto covered porches.

Kidding to ourselves about this jet set bit... flying off to Austria for 10 days! It was not all that expensive really... $160 round trip. Not bad! Best kind of a different Christmas. We did this instead of getting the usual presents.

So what happens now? School's back in session. Next year we'll be minus one. The oldest son will be off at college someplace. Peggy will be a senior and Bruce will start first grade. Our plans for 3-day weekends this spring will be to explore more widely here and get over to the islands. Easter week we are torn between going to the islands and some more skiing... in Northern Italy this time... or perhaps we'll go to Egypt which is fairly close. Things have settled down there... you don't need a visa now to get into the Arab countries.

Summer? That's a long way away and we don't know.

Regarding the political situation here... it didn't have much effect on us. We know there's been a Cypress situation... We know there's been an attempted counter coup, but the information we get locally is nil... It's very difficult to read the Greek press (if they had anything to say anyway). Most of our information comes via the BBC. Or from the Voice of America.

Mrs. Lois Ann Bethea and Maurice Stoney took home the first place award for the duplicate bridge tournament sponsored Tuesday evening at the Community Center by the Valley Bridge Club.

Winners of second place were Mrs. Betty Leslie and her partner, Mrs. Mary Drobek. Third place was awarded to Mrs. Lyde Mink and Mrs. Mary Angier.

The day of the counter coup my wife called me at about 10:30 a.m. and said, "What's going on?" She said tanks were rumbling through the town and she had to cross the street between them to get some eggs.

We had to wait till late afternoon to get the news. The kids were all back home and we heard about it on the BBC. Actually you get more first-hand information than we do. But we feel perfectly safe here. The situation was a little sticky but Mr. Vance did a beautiful job.

Life goes on after all. I guess this is the Greek way... what happens next politically... your guess is as good as mine as to whether the king comes back for instance.

As we say here, "It's in the lap of the gods."

Life as a missionary in Chile was the topic chosen by Rev. Vincent Cowan, who shared his experiences with the young people of junior high age last week at the Fellowship Hall of the Community Chapel.

The recently organized Carmel Valley Community Chapel Junior High School group were hosts to other 6th, 7th and 8th graders from St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church, the Lutheran Church, and Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church.

Welcoming guests were their director, Dave Dracos, and members Enid Rauber, Terry Hendrix, Helena Bresk, Heidi Hattan, Holly Beckstrom, Lisa Brill, Lydia Bresk, Sandi Harber and Steve Robertson.

The Monterey Peninsula Airmen's Association chose Washington's Birthday as the date, and Rippling River Resort for the location of their monthly dinner meeting. Social chairman Frank (Red) Geeseman of Pacific Grove was in charge of arrangements for the sixty-nine members who enjoyed the prime rib banquet and the program which followed.

Valley neighbors were saddened to receive news of the death of a former Valley resident, Col. Richard R. Middlebrooks in Oakland last week. With his wife, Beverly, Col. Middlebrooks had made his home on Pablo Place off Country Club Drive, while serving at Fort Ord. Services were held Feb. 22 at the Heuton Memorial Chapel in Sonoma where the Middlebrooks had lived for two years.

A cable was sent to Vietnam Feb. 26 at 4:45 p.m., happily announcing the arrival of a new resident for Carmel Valley and a son for Lt. Warren D. Jackson (USN). Master Randolph St. Clair Jackson weighed six lbs. 12 oz. upon his arrival at the Community Hospital and measured 21" long. These were some of the pertinent facts wired to his dad.

Helping his mom, Yuvawn, for awhile at the Jackson home on Lower Circle will be his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Grace St. Clair of Redwood City.

Others to welcome the handsome blonde baby boy are his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Jackson of Buffalo, N.Y. and his maternal grandfather, Mr. O.R. St. Clair of Las Vegas, Nev.; also a great-aunt, Ethel Jackson of Boston who is skiing in Switzerland and a maternal aunt, Mrs. Ann Skultin of Leesburg, Fla.

Has communication come back at Tularcitos?

When tension and misunderstandings arise over a problem sometimes it takes a terrific explosion to clear the air and set things on an even keel again.

Monday, just such a meeting took place at Tularcitos School with principal George Gustafson under fire.

During this past school year, with new principals at most of the schools in the Carmel school district, there have been many changes made. The new principals are a team... well known to Superintendent Taylor prior to his coming to our district. This surely makes for a unity of purpose and plan throughout the individual schools, but a great number of Tularcitos parents also thought it had made for a lot of confusion and non-communication within that particular school.

Rumors had been flying about what was going to be done, a number of parents questioned the movement of youngsters, the lack of report cards, the proposed holding back of a number of children, and emotional unrest that they felt had increased among them this past year. Monday night's meeting was requested by concerned parents in order to find out what the score was. 125 turned out for the 7 p.m. conference. Basically it was a hostile group.

Many parents expected Dr. Taylor to be present at the meeting and we really think that he should have been. A school problem that brings out 125 men and women at dinnertime is not one to be taken lightly, and it would have been far better if he could have heard the questions and answers firsthand.

Gustafson evaded and slipped over some questions without a direct answer... some he frankly admitted he didn't have the answer for, but he promised parents that they would be kept informed of what was going on and "no decision affecting a youngster's placement in class would be made without talking to the parents." He added, "The decision to change rooms or levels is made by the teachers, not me."

Tularcitos is overcrowded... Gustafson is new here. He told parents he came to the Valley because of the teachers and the kids that were here... not on a short term basis, but he hoped for a long stay.

We hope that a better line of communication was established. Valley parents are vitally interested in what is happening to their kids... and Monday night's meeting proved that they want answers. We hope that happens in the near future.

PERSPECTIVE

TO THE EDITOR

A kind word for PG&E

Editor, The Outlook:

It seems that in this world today, so much is said and felt about the wrongs that are constantly being done by one and all. The "Good is oft interred with their bones" as Shakespeare said.

For that reason I feel it a "must" to write this letter.

Last week one day, the PG&E worked on our street, beside leaving rocks unburied on the street for a neighbor to use as she asked, they accidentally broke one of my coachman's lanterns along the way.

Naturally, I felt this was going to be a source of red tape and aggravation. I called the PG&E office and was finally referred to Mr. Iwata in Carmel Valley who promised to come down that day and have a look. He didn't even keep me waiting until 4:30. By 11 a.m., Marvin Lockin had Mr. Reynolds and Henzley solder the broken part back. Besides restoring the old lantern, they repaired the door on a second lantern they had not damaged.

It gives a happy thought to one, that some big companies are concerned with small things and little people. Thank you, good folks.

Sincerely,
Evelyn Rhoades

Protest against new center

Editor, The Outlook:

The first article in The Outlook regarding the new shopping center at Ford and Carmel Valley roads stated that the shopping center would provide services not already available to the Village people. February 14th's article stated that Mr. Bennett "hoped key tenants would be a junior department store, a food store, service station, and restaurant."

The Village already has the General Store and Village House, plus over a dozen lovely shops where a person can find anything and everything. The Village already has three markets, three liquor stores, and a candy shop. The Village already has four service stations. The Village Area has about twelve eating places where you can buy anything from a piece of cheesecake to a steak dinner.

Mr. Bennett also states: "Services not now provided will be emphasized including a savings institution, shoe shop and shoe repair, bakery, sporting goods, garden supplies, and clothing stores."

The Village has a bank and the surrounding towns are overloaded with savings institutions. The little shoe store next to the Post Office has a great variety of shoes and accessories at nominal prices plus shoe repair service.* There are vacant shops in the Village that could accommodate a bakery. The General Store and Village House have a good selection of sporting goods. The Village has two nurseries plus garden supplies galore at Village House. There are four or five shops in the Village where clothing of any description can be bought, and if I remember correctly two or three clothing stores went out of business in the Village during the past two years, leaving the ones there enough business to make a living.

Mr. Bennett, realtor, and Mr. Dahlstrand, architect, and the others responsible for the shopping center have no concern for the Village businesses already struggling to make a living all year round, nor are they concerned with the ugly site they will create on such a hazardous bend in Carmel Valley Rd. (namely a gas station). The only concern of these people is to make money for themselves.

The letters of complaints regarding this shopping center have ceased to appear in your paper. I know money talks louder than words, but it seems to me if there were enough words spoken, a stop could be made to this shopping center. Words (through the medium of your paper) from the Village Proprietors, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Property Owners Association, and the Village Improvement Committee would let the Villagers and Mr. Bennett and his associates know if they are for or against this shopping center.

Progress is important, but will the new shopping center add to the progress already made by the people who have worked so hard to make their businesses an asset to the Carmel Valley Village, or will it put them out of business?

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) Audrey Klikovac

*(Ed. note: This shop is now closed.)

Defends Valley youth

Editor, The Outlook:

Questions!

Why all the unfair publicity of our fine young people who were present and conducted themselves in such an exemplary manner at the open Birthday Party Dance of Saturday the 24th, especially since there was no quarreling or fighting either inside or out of the hall and no liquor was allowed inside nor was there any outside to our knowledge?

Why condemn all who were present because someone inferred a few get out of line?

Don't girls always giggle when talking with boys? Does that have to mean something wrong was going on?

Don't people always go in and out of a hall during an "open" dance when the room gets hot and stuffy?

Isn't it natural for boys to stand outside and listen to the music without paying, when they don't have a girl to dance with and the music can be heard a block away?

Just because we don't like the loud music that the young people like, is that any reason why they should not have it?

Is once a month from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight too much time for us to give up for the young people?

Don't parents drink in front of their children in their own homes?

Isn't it usual to have drinks at any home party? Should not mothers and fathers be fair to their own children as well as the children of others?

Sincerely,
Vera Stokes

COMSAT joins Valley Chamber

COMSAT, the new satellite communications installation going up in Cehagua, has become the newest member of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce, according to Tom Bottaro, Chamber president.

Don McKenzie, administrator of COMSAT, returned to Carmel Valley last week to present a check to the Chamber and introduce Mike Downey to the Carmel Valley Lions Club. As assistant manager of COMSAT, Downey gave a progress report and a detailed explanation of the planned installation and COMSAT international program, involving some 61 nations.

CV Manor to add new units

Carmel Valley Manor is planning to add to its facility on a 4-1/2 acre adjacent parcel of land. At the present time, the Manor consists of 165 living units which accommodate 218 persons.

Originally the plan was to provide space for a resident population of 250 persons, but inability to acquire sufficient acreage limited the building.

Now the remaining land from the original parcel is available and the plan is to erect 24 additional units.

Fund drive planned for YMCA groups

Beginning its third year on the Monterey Peninsula, the YMCA has shown phenomenal growth. Currently in its annual fund raising drive, the YMCA is attempting to raise enough to continue its present program, double the capacity of its summer Y-camps, and add a program secretary to its staff.

YMCA programs on the Peninsula include more than 600 adults and children involved in some 50 groups, ranging from Y-Indian tribes to Tri-Hi-Y. These totals have doubled from those of a year ago, according to Douglas Sprague, YMCA General Secretary for the Monterey Peninsula.

VALLEY TRIBE

In Carmel Valley there are now two very active Y-Indian Guide Tribes. These groups foster companionship between fathers and sons and meet twice a month in Valley homes and include monthly outings. The local tribes recently went to Chews Ridge and are now planning a trip to Hartnell College's planetarium.

Last Sunday 24 fathers and sons, representing the two Y-Indian Guide Tribes of Carmel Valley, met at Gordon Harlander's house for an afternoon of fun which included archery, sack races, and a tug-of-war.

Persons interested in more information about the YMCA program on the Peninsula or in gift contributions should contact the local office at 757 Pacific Ave., Monterey or call 373-4166.

Costume ball set for March 21

The date for the gala mid-Lenten "Mi Careme" Ball, sponsored by the Alliance Francaise, is rapidly approaching. The traditional costume dinner-dance will be held at the Casa Munras on March 21.

Costumes may be of the simplest design or guests may really go all out, depending on their whims, but all must be masked. For those who wish, masques will be sold at the door by members of the Alliance, who have made them. Proceeds will go to the Society's scholarship fund.

Costumes will be judged in four categories: Most original, most amusing, most spectacular, and most authentic. A winning group effort will also be awarded a prize.

Judges will be internationally known artist Jean Vanda, well known Carmel artist, Paco Ferro, Mrs. Leonard Klene, and two additional persons who will be named later.

Mrs. John Dowdakin of Carmel Valley is chairman of the dance. Information and tickets may be obtained from her at 659-2356, or Mrs. Sean Flavin at 373-3978.

The dance is open to the public and all proceeds go to the scholarship fund for foreign language students.

Barber shoppers to harmonize

BUCK WILLIAMS, lead in the barbershop quartet, The Plus Four, rehearses the Chorus from the local SPEBSQSA group in preparation for the annual "Harmony at Sunset" concert to be held Friday and Saturday evenings at Sunset Auditorium. Other local members of the Plus Four are Gene Smith, tenor, Neil Keefer, baritone, and Leon Stutzman, bass. Another group from the Peninsula will also perform this year in the traditional program of barbershop harmony. Members of The 1890 Four are George Rackleman, tenor, Bob Zucker, lead, Brett Krepe, baritone, and Russ Hatch, bass. (Bob Isaacs photo)

Valley Theatre to give two new workshop shows

The White Oaks Theatre repertory company, taking a breather from their state-wide touring schedule, will present two workshop productions at the White Oaks Theatre on the evenings of March 8 and 9 at 8:30. Admission is $1.50 and no reservations are necessary.

The two plays to be seen on those evenings will be Tennessee Williams' "Moony's Kid Don't Cry," and Ionesco's classic one act, "The Bald Soprano."

The workshop productions serve a two-fold purpose for the performers at White Oaks. They offer these students of drama an opportunity to put into practice the theories they have been learning, and give them a break from the children's theatre repertoire they have been performing throughout California.

"Moony's Kid," with a cast of two, will be under the direction of John Herzog, a student director. The role of Moony will be performed by John Prejean, Jane will be played by Malia Elliott.

"The Bald Soprano," directed by Shirley Eoff, will feature the following cast: Mr. Smith: Tony Willis, Mrs. Smith: Linda Boblitt, Mr. Martin: Pete Medina, Mrs. Martin: Christine Flynn, Mary: Malia Elliott, and the Fire Chief: John Prejean.

Both plays are in a serious vein, the Williams play an early work which shows the development of typical Williams characters, the Ionesco work dealing with the problems of communication and identification in modern society.

A hilltop house that has three different types of panoramic view

"Believe it or not, I'm hardly aware that the shopping center is there," declared Elaine Sandberg, whose house on top of the hill in Rancho Tierra Grande, has an airplane-like view of the Mid-Valley center.

And it is true that from the house itself there is only a feeling of being on top of the world...and from the broad deck which surrounds three sides, the pattern of parking spaces and buildings, the plow-lines of cultivated fields, the roofs of barns, and the movement of antlike people and cars, far down below, is interesting rather than disconcerting, as many people have assumed.

...And on a clear day, as the song goes, Elaine and Lane Sandberg can see the ocean.

Lane, who is a general contractor, built the house after Elaine, first grade teacher at Tularcitos School, had taken a plan that would fit on the lot and then knocked out half the walls to make it more spacious.

The main living area is on the entrance level, but there is practically another house down-stairs, with a huge recreation room with fireplace, a guest bedroom and bath, and walls of storage space.

The slate floored entrance hall leads to a living room set at a lower level. Since many of the Sandberg's friends are artists, there is a continually revolving gallery set up on the wall overlooking the living room, completely equipped with built-in lighting.

"It's like having a private art gallery to be able to trade and change the paintings," Elaine said.

EASY TRAFFIC FLOW

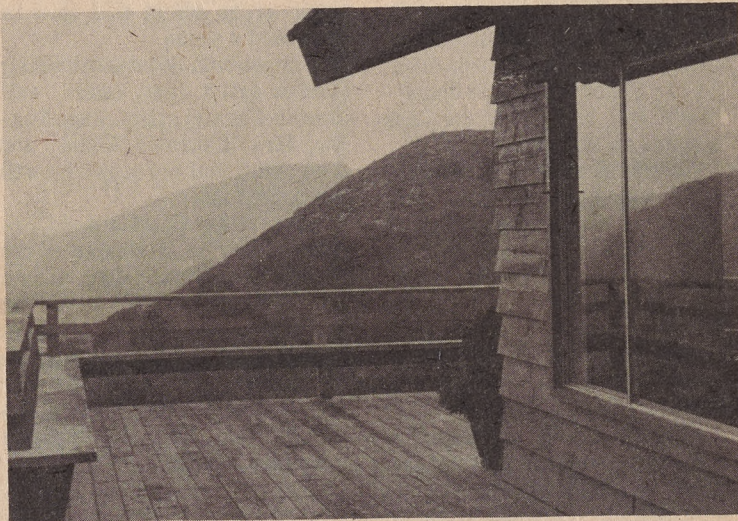

One of Elaine's greatest loves is the kitchen in her new house. Conveniently located between the family room and the living room with its central fireplace wall, it provides easy access to both sides during entertaining. Because of the fireplace being a center core there is an easy flow of traffic from room to room. At the end of the hearth is a cabinet that was originally planned as a woodbox, but it spelled out its own usage when it was converted to a bar and refreshment center. Immediately adjacent to this is a small pot-bellied black iron stove which Elaine nostalgically installed, remembering her first teaching job in a one room school house in Wyoming. In addition to being ornamental it also serves as a warming station for hors d'oeuvres at party time.

While on this first teaching assignment, Elaine lived in an old farmhouse and became immensely efficient at whipping up a fire in short order, for she had a wood stove as the only source of heat at home as well as in the school...and Wyoming winters can be beastly cold. Lane is also from Laramie and their move to California in 1948 was most intentional...to get away from the snow. They find it much more enjoyable to view it from their spacious deck, whenever Chews Ridge is crowned in white.

The deck is planned with the ELAINE SANDBERG insisted that her little potbellied stove be installed in their new house. It reminded her of her first teaching position in a one room schoolhouse where the only source of heat was a similar stove. Now she uses it to heat hors d'oeuvres adjacent to the refreshment bar.

THE SANDBERG'S hilltop home in Rancho Tierra Grande is encircled on three sides with broad decks, providing an ocean and sunset view from this side toward the west, a populated view with houses and the mid-Valley shopping center to the south and an eastern vista toward the Upper Valley and Chews Ridge.

area next to the family room and kitchen protected from the wind to make outdoor dining pleasurable. Here, there is also a completely different kind of view, with eucalyptus and green hills.

By building the deck around the three sides of their hilltop home, they have the advantage of a populated view, with lights at night, directly in front, and sunsets over the far-off ocean from the other end, where there are doors opening from the master bedroom.

The bedroom, in bright red carpeting and stark white walls, is furnished in early American and the master bathroom boasts a bright crimson washbowl made especially for them by Valley potter, Rudi Marzi.

A great advantage of their location is the proximity to everything, yet the feeling of isolation. If they want to go to a movie, they only have to walk out on the deck with binoculars and look at the sign down by the theatre. But if they wish solitude, they only have to turn their backs on it.

After a hairy day of work, all cares seem to just drop by the wayside as soon as Elaine and Lane reach their "house on top of the world."

Kites to soar as annual festival date nears

Carmel's annual Kite Festival is being planned for Saturday, March 30, as announced by Charles L. Dawson, director of recreation for the Carmel Unified School District. This traditional event is co-sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club and will take place at the Carmel Middle School Athletic Field from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The usual regulations for this contest will apply as follows: each kite must be made by the contestant and must actually get into the air and fly in order to be eligible. Commercial, ready-made kites will be rejected.

Each kite may be entered in one of the four age groups only — 8 years and younger, 9 to 12 years, 13 to 15 years, and adults over 15 years. Three prize categories for all age groups will be the same: 1st — Highest Flying Kites; 2nd — Best Workmanship; and 3rd — Prettiest Kite.

Another prize category will be included this year for youngsters who make their own kites without adult assistance.

In addition to these prizes the Willis White Prize, commemorating the founder, will again be awarded for Best International Design and the Ernest Calley Perpetual Plaque will be awarded for the Champion Kite — all donated by the Carmel Lions Club — and the Grand Champion Kite Award donated by Donald Buby and Malcolm Moran of Gallery Carmel.

In the event of rain, the kite festival will be postponed to a later date — possibly the following Saturday.

The kite festival was founded by Rev. Willis White in 1930 and has been held each year since then. It was directed for many years by Ernest Calley, a shop teacher at the former Sunset School who continued to direct the festival for several years after his retirement; and in the mid-fifties the Recreation Department of the Carmel Unified School District took it over.

THE ANNUAL BAZAAR, sponsored by the Robert Louis Stevenson Sponsors Club will be held at the school on Saturday, March 16. Petey Sherry (right) is most appreciative of the huge colorful paper flowers which his mother Julie (left) and Hermine Landau are making to be sold at the bazaar. In addition there will be produce, a boutique of handmade quilts, antiques, baked goods and a raffle with a color TV as first prize. The public is invited to the day-long event and there is no admission charge.

HELENE CLARABUT

Antique oak is "in" this year

"In nice weather, we take the furniture right out in the courtyard and work on it there. We always have a gallery of interested spectators."

Helene Clarabut, owner of Heritage Antiques chuckled, "I buy the cleaning liquid in bulk and then transfer it to smaller bottles (usually empty liquor containers) and you should see the horrified expressions on their faces when they think we're using vodka to clean some priceless 17th century wardrobe!"

Helene has been in the antique business on the Peninsula since 1945, when she started a shop in Monterey in the huge governor's ballroom above Lial's Music Shop.

She was there for only six months however, then moved to the Sundial Court in Carmel, and has had shops located there ever since. Presently, Heritage Antiques is located in Su Vecino Court on Dolores Street.

Originally Helene maintained two shops, one specializing in early American antiques and one which handled only those of European origin. However, she prefers the European pieces, particularly those from the 17th century, so she eventually closed the colonial shop.

An interesting difference between the two is that the Early American pieces always require much more work, refinishing and repairing, than those which come from the continent.

The Shoe Box

Dolores—So. of Ocean

In days when colonial furniture fell into disfavor here, persons would cover commodes, wash stands and chests with coats of paint, attempting to disguise them... or cut off legs and nail up drawers, so that hours of labor may be involved before even reaching the wood.

However, those from England, Italy and Spain usually only require cleaning and minor restoration.

Helene originally came to California in 1940 when her two children, Noel and Sonia were ready for college. She started her first shop in Bel Air, when Sonia was at University of California.

At that time she used to go back to Connecticut with a friend, driving two station wagons and trailers and bring back loads of furniture from New England each summer.

Now she only concentrates on trips to Europe. Last October when she went on a buying trip she found that things were much more scarce than they had been the previous time, but she went into the country areas and found some very special prizes such as a great long table from an Italian monastery and a Gothic cupboard, in mint condition.

"It is interesting to note," Mrs. Clarabut said, "that antiques have cycles just as contemporary furniture has. What was 'in' last year, can be 'out' this year even if it was first popular in 1693. For example, oak is the most popular now, and the craze for early Spanish furniture has waned."

"However, the search for antiques is always popular even though it is getting harder and harder to find them," she concluded.

Franciscans taught music to the Indians and performed with Spanish soldiers at festivals.

A long corridor at the mission. At one time the mission's buildings were so extensive they would have stretched for a mile, laid end to end. Even now the size is impressive. Sites of earlier construction are well marked.

Bill Blankenberg photos

San Antonio: mission

The church of the mission has been fully restored. Its interior is a masterpiece of Spanish Colonial architecture.

Changeless scene: nearly two centuries ago dumb oxen walked around this grist mill. Now photographers do.

It's not exactly a shrine, but the stone structure didn't mind.

A friendly friar poses for tourists.

Mission San Antonio's church, with its burnt-brick walls, reflects the mission's history. In the foreground is a Spanish Colonial well.

sion in the middle of non-progress stored. Its interior is either quietly inspiring or dank and musty, depending on the weather and your piety.

It's not exactly a Sunset model kitchen, but the Franciscans didn't mind.

Salinan Indians once baked bread in these beehive ovens. In the summer, ovens are almost unnecessary in this valley.

Mission San Antonio's church, with its burnt-brick face, reflects the morning sun. In the foreground is a Spanish carreta.

Visitors poke around the water-powered mill built by the early padres. Also to be seen are subterranean wine vats, the remnants of a tannery, an Indian burial ground, and a system of aqueducts.

Places to go

In 1771, while Easterners were griping about the high price of tea, Padre Junipero Serra erected the first bells and cross of Mission San Antonio de Padua in the foothills of the Santa Lucia range in California.

This was the third of California's 21 missions, founded a few years after the missions of San Diego and Carmel. Its church, with a remarkable facade of burnt brick, was constructed between 1810 and 1813. Arcaded buildings extended to the right and rear of the church, enclosing an inner patio.

THICK WALLS

The adobe walls were from three to six feet thick, and the Franciscan padres, whose goal was to Christianize the Salinan Indians, supervised the building of adobe homes and shops for Indians outside the walls.

The mission fell on hard times during and after the 1840s. Its wooden roofs deteriorated and its great walls were eroded by the winter rains. When the last of the padres died in 1882, neighboring ranchers helped themselves to timbers and tiles.

But in 1903 Joseph R. Knowland, of the Oakland Tribune, led the Native Sons of the Golden West in a fund drive to restore the mission. In 1928, the Franciscans returned, and in 1949 the Hearst Foundation gave $50,000 to restore the church.

TODAY

Today, Mission San Antonio is an artful mixture of antiquity and restoration. It's on a convenient and scenic drive between King City and Bradley, about a dozen miles west of Highway 101. By the way, this route is a shrewd way to avoid the agonizing two-lane stretch south of King City. You can also reach the mission from the Big Sur, turning off Highway 1 just south of Lucia; but the road is dreadful.

Within shooting distance of the mission is the headquarters of Hunter Liggett Military Reservation ensconced in mock-mission architecture. Army tanks rumble across the oak savannah where the saintly Serra once taught Indians the ways of peace.

THE SETTING

A major delight of Mission San Antonio is its spacious setting. Unlike Carmel and Santa Clara, for example, it is not surrounded by progress. The land and hills are much as Serra, De Anza, and Portola found them. It is a quiet place.

"But at night," a Franciscan padre recently remarked, "when the army is conducting games, we are brought back down to earth."

Cachagua man is named "Rancher of the Year"

In conjunction with Conservation Week, John Brice of the Salinas work unit Office of the Soil Conservation District has announced that Bill Durney of Cachagua has been named "Rancher of the Year" for the Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District.

The award was presented for range improvement work in establishing 100 acres of Lanavetch and Blando brome grasses, fertilized for annual re-seeding pasture. In addition, Mr. Durney field trialed new perennial Perla grass on 30 acres, cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service Plant Materials Center at Pleasanton and assisted by the Salinas Soil Conservation Office.

Ranch foreman for Mr. Durney is Tony Eleshio, who recently went to King City to accept the "Rancher of the Year" Award for Mr. Durney. The ranch is near Los Padres Dam, covers some 1,000 acres and is currently experimenting in the raising of wine grapes and Belted-Galloway cattle.
